

The Levi Ammundsen Update

Looking outside, almost all the snow is gone and the ice is melting off the lake. Soon the scraps of sky not filled with allergenic pollen will be blotted out by mosquitoes. It's by far my favorite time of year.

In the past couple months I've helped repaint both outdoor washrooms, built PVC bows, learned more than I ever wanted to know about cleaning bathrooms, hosted my first guest groups, and been shot in the face with padded arrows for archery tag "testing".

In March we hosted 49 campers out for spring break camp in 8 inches of soggy, melting snow. Got my trial by fire as work crew boss with no work crew experience, and had a blast chasing kids around with a flashlight during mission impossible. I was also handed a camera to carry around, which mostly taught me that I know absolutely nothing about filming or photography.

That last bit is important, since I'll be on the Video Team this summer and have to make sure that our camp movies aren't just blurry montages of huge thumbs. Somewhere between now and June I'll be cramming as much filmmaking education as I can. Six weeks is how long it takes to master a skill, right?

Prayer Items

I'll be going in way over my head with taking up video for the summer. Pray that I'll learn quick and handle the stress.

Allergy season is always a wild ride for me, with sneezing and the fresh new twist of asthma last year.

Financial Support

If you'd like to support me with your hard-earned money, you can donate via the nlbc.bc.ca website. There's a huge button on the right. Just put my name in the special instructions.

Alternately, you can print and mail in the donation form which is attached to this letter, and available from the nlbc.bc.ca website under Newsletters.

It is with great enthusiasm that I write this letter of endorsement to you on behalf of Levi Ammundsen. As a member of our Year Round Crew, Levi's primary role is to assist as and where needed around camp. This includes cleaning, hosting and facilitating rentals, and working on the physical property and maintenance needs. As a staff team, we have been greatly encouraged and supported by the Year Round Crew as they serve alongside us with enthusiasm and diligence here at NLBC. Levi needs prayer support, financial support, and a group of people who are committed to encouraging him as he works to advance the Kingdom of God through Ness Lake Bible Camp. All donations to camp are tax deductible and we issue tax receipts in late January of each year. If you wish to financially support Levi as he ministers here please use slip below, or call the camp office at (250) 612-4673. Thank you for your consideration, and support of Levi. If you would like to support Levi's ministry of NLBC please complete this form and return with your gift.
